“ Alice you was truly loved and will be dearly missed. My heart is full of sorrow but I know that Gods will is for you to be with him and suffer no more. I know this is not the final good bye forever but a new start on a new journey for you with a new body that no longer suffers. As selfish as it seems I was not ready to let you go but It was time to let you be healed. Just remember I will always be thinking of you. The final days that we spent with you were hard but we just wanted you to know that you were loved and not alone.
